LASTING COLOUR

Shida Preserved Flowers offers blooms that last. The company uses fresh flowers harvested at their peak, which then undergo a special preservation treatment in which the sap is replaced by plant-based glycerine and dyes. The treatment maintains the cell structure of the plants, leaving them looking and feeling natural and retaining their beauty for at least a year.

From £29 for a bouquet. shida.florist

Flowerbx sources fresh flowers direct from the growers and delivers them to your door. The stylish online company has recently expanded its service to include plants, vases, candles and even floral scissors. This 'Fiddle Leaf Fig' plant, £170, is on my wish list. flowerbx.com
